Resident profile

Name: Fredrick John Smith

Fred is an ex-soldier who lost his left leg in the Second World War. He likes to talk to others about his wartime pals, but can be a bit sensitive about his disability. His mobility is generally good, but he is experiencing some pain in his right knee and this is slowing him down a bit. He is keen on his food and particularly likes puddings such as sponge and custard. His weight needs to be checked though, as this might affect his mobility. His eyesight is deteriorating – he has recently been diagnosed with macular degeneration. He needs to use a hearing aid and should be encouraged to use it for watching TV.
