Note: I think the research activity is a valid one and will be helpful for individuals to complete as it is possible learners will not have come across the range of resources and weblinks available.

Please note I am concerned that this unit could be mis-leading for learners and assessors who do not really understand volunteering. I have produced a 'key points' resource for tutors and assessors to ensure that the messages around this subject are clear, as there is frequently lots of confusion and misinterpretation around this area, even from the management within an organisation.
