

HO3: Properties of Direct Proportion

If two quantities are directly proportional to each other, then:

- One quantity is a multiple of the other.
- If the first quantity is zero, the second quantity is zero.
- If you double one quantity, the other also doubles.
- The graph of the relationship, is a straight line through the origin.